FACTS

Respondent has been admitted to practice since December 3, 1996, and has practiced personal injury law in Oakland since that time. In October 2001, respondent employed James Son to act as office manager for a satellite office that respondent established in Santa Clara. Son was not an attorney and was not qualified as a paralegal, although he had experience in the personal injury field. Son and respondent signed a written agreement wherein respondent agreed to pay Son a percentage (generally 60%) of the net profits generated in the Santa Clara office. The agreement provided Son a financial incentive to bring clients into the office. Son was given authority to sign checks drawn on the satellite office trust account.

During the time the office was in operation, Son conducted client intake interviews, oversaw the processing of cases and settled cases. Son typically performed both of these functions without respondent's supervision. However, in unusual cases wherein the insurance company offered an insufficient settlement, Son transferred the case to respondent for handling. Respondent states that during the time the office was in operation, respondent visited the satellite office every two weeks and spoke with Son on the telephone daily. Respondent was the only attorney involved in the satellite office. Respondent paid Son the above-mentioned percentage of the profits from the satellite office.

The office operated in this manner until May, 2003, at which point law enforcement officers executed a search warrant at the satellite office. As of that date, the satellite office had 56 open cases. At the time the warrant was served, respondent gave a full statement to the State Bar and law enforcement officers in which he admitted the essential facts stated above but denied committing fraud. After the search, respondent terminated his business relationship with Son. Both respondent and Son were charged criminally, but both were acquitted of all charges.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. Respondent wilfully violated Rules of Professional Conduct, rule 1-310, by forming a partnership with Son—a person who is not a lawyer—where the activities of that partnership consisted of the practice of law.

2. Respondent wilfully violated Rules of Professional Conduct, rule 1-300(A), by aiding Son in the unauthorized practice of law, i.e., settlement of cases.

3. Respondent wilfully violated Rules of Professional Conduct, rule 1-320(A), by sharing legal fees with Son, who was not a lawyer.

DISCLOSURE OF PENDING INVESTIGATIONS

The disclosure date referred to, on page one, paragraph A.(7), was December 7, 2007.

AUTHORITIES SUPPORTING DISCIPLINE

The Standards prescribe reproof or suspension for violations of the rules of professional conduct, depending upon the gravity of the offense or harm, if any, to the victim, with due regard to the purposes of imposing discipline (Std. 2.10). Cases involving improper partnerships with non-attorneys have resulted in actual suspensions of six months (In the Matter of Nelson (Review Dept. 1990) 1 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 178) or longer (In the Matter of Jones (Review Dept. 1993) 2 Cal. State Bar Court 211). However, unlike those cases, this stipulation does not include findings that respondent committed acts or moral turpitude and does not include findings that his subordinate engaged capping or fraud. The State Bar is proposing this lower level of discipline for the additional reason that respondent has fully cooperated throughout this proceeding (including his statement to law enforcement authorities) and has agreed to a settlement at an early stage of the State Bar proceedings.
