5. The March 13, 2003 reproof order became effective on April 3, 2003.

6. On or about April 28, 2003, Probation Deputy Eddie Esqueda ("Esqueda") of the Office of Probation sent a letter to Respondent in which he reminded Respondent of the terms and conditions of his reproof imposed pursuant to the reproof order. In the April 28, 2003 letter, Esqueda specifically advised Respondent regarding his obligations to file quarterly reports commencing July 10, 2003; submit proof of payment of restitution by January 3, 2004; submit proof of successful completion of Ethics School by April 3, 2004; and submit proof of successful passage of the MPRE by April 3, 2004. 7. Respondent received the April 28, 2003 letter from Esqueda.

8. Respondent failed to timely file with the Office of Probation the quarterly reports that were due no later than July 10, 2003, October 10, 2003, and January 10, 2004. The quarterly report that was due no later than July 10, 2003 was not received by the Office of Probation until July 14, 2003. The quarterly report that was due no later than October 10, 2003 was not received by the Office of Probation until October 16, 2003. 13. Respondent did take and pass the MPRE on August 13, 2004, which was the very next opportunity to do so.

Conclusions of Law

14. By failing to timely file the required quarterly reports and final report, failing to timely submit proof of payment of restitution, failing to timely complete Ethics School, and by failing to timely take and pass the MPRE and provide proof of same to the Office of Probation, Respondent failed to comply with the terms and conditions of the reprobation order.

15. By failing to comply with the terms and conditions of the reprobation order, Respondent wilfully violated rule 1-110 of the Rules of Professional Conduct.

PENDING PROCEEDINGS.

The disclosure date referred to, on page one, paragraph A.(7), was March 16, 2006.

AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

FACTS SUPPORTING AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

Multiple Acts of Misconduct

Respondent belatedly filed three quarterly reports, his final report, and proof of his restitution payment; and belatedly completed Ethics School and the MPRE.

MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

ADDITIONAL MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

Respondent was cooperative with the State Bar during this proceeding and expressed remorse for his untimely compliance with the reproof conditions.

STATE BAR ETHICS SCHOOL EXCLUSION.

The protection of the public and the interest of justice does not require completion of Ethics School as Respondent attended Ethics School on April 8, 2004 and passed the test given. (See In the Matter of Johnson (Review Dept. 2000) 4 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 179, 193.)

MULTISTATE PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY EXAMINATION EXCLUSION.

The protection of the public and the interest of justice does not require passage of the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination as Respondent took and passed the August 13, 2004 MPRE. (See In the Matter of Carr (Review Dept. 1992) 2 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 108, 119.)

AUTHORITIES SUPPORTING DISCIPLINE.

A. The Standards

Standard 1.3 provides that the primary purposes of disciplinary proceedings and imposing sanctions for professional misconduct are “the protection of the public, the courts and the legal profession; the maintenance of high professional standards by attorneys; and the preservation of public confidence in the legal profession.”

Standard 1.6(a) provides that the appropriate sanction for an act of professional misconduct shall be the sanction set forth in the standards for the particular misconduct found. If aggravating factors outweigh mitigating factors, a greater degree of discipline than the appropriate sanction shall be imposed or recommended. (Standard 1.6(b)(i).) If mitigating factors outweigh aggravating factors, a lesser degree of discipline than the appropriate sanction shall be imposed or recommended. (Standard 1.6(b)(ii).)

Standard 2.9 provides that culpability of a member of wilfully failing to comply with the terms and conditions of a reproof shall result in suspension.

Standard 1.7(a) provides that if a member is found culpable of misconduct and has a prior record of one imposition of discipline, the degree of discipline imposed in the current proceeding shall be greater than that imposed in the prior proceeding unless the prior was remote in time and the offense for which it was imposed was so minimal that it would be manifestly unjust to impose greater discipline in the current proceeding.

The Supreme Court gives the Standards "great weight," and will reject a recommendation consistent with the Standards only where the Court entertains "grave doubts" as to its propriety. (In re Naney (1990) 51 Cal. 3d 186, 190; In re Silvertown (2005) 36 Cal. 4th 81, 91, 92.) Further, although the Standards are not mandatory, it is well established that the Standards may be deviated from only when there is a compelling, well-defined reason to do so. (See Aronin v. State Bar (1990) 52 Cal. 3d 276, 291; Bates v. State Bar (1990) 52 Cal. 3d 1056, 1060, fn. 2.)

B. The Case Law

1. Conroy v. State Bar (1990) 51 Cal. 3d 799.

Conroy failed to take and pass the Professional Responsibility Examination ("PRE") as a condition of a private reproof within one year of the effective date of the reproof. Conroy tardily took and passed the PRE at the next available opportunity, before the State Bar filed the reproof violation proceeding. Conroy defaulted at the Hearing Department level and was found culpable of a wilful violation of rule 9-101 of the former Rules of Professional Conduct, the precursor to rule 1-110 of the Rules of Professional Conduct.

The Supreme Court deemed Conroy's belated passage of the PRE at the next available opportunity to be an "extenuating factor," but not "significant mitigation." In aggravation, the Court found that Conroy had the one prior private reproof; that he failed to appreciate the seriousness of the charges and the importance of participating in the State Bar proceedings by defaulting; and that by suggesting on review that his misconduct was a mere technical lapse, he had failed to show remorse for his misconduct. On balance, the Supreme Court concluded that aggravating circumstances significantly outweighed mitigating circumstances and imposed a one-year suspension from practice, stayed, with a one-year period of probation on terms and conditions including a sixty-day actual suspension.

2. In the Matter of Meyer (Review Dept. 1997) 3 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 697.

Meyer violated conditions attached to a private reproof by filing one probation report late, failing to file two other probation reports, and by not certifying his completion of six hours of continuing legal education. In aggravation, Meyer had two prior impositions of discipline (both private reprovals); committed multiple acts of misconduct; showed indifference toward rectification of his misconduct; and failed to cooperate in the proceedings by not filing a pretrial statement; failing to attend three pretrial hearings; and defaulting at the time of trial. There were no circumstances in mitigation. The Review Department concluded that Meyer's misconduct called for a higher level of discipline than had been imposed by the Supreme Court in Conroy v. State Bar, supra, 51 Cal. 3d 799, and recommended the imposition of a two-year suspension from practice, execution stayed, and a three-year probation on terms and conditions including a 90-day actual suspension.

3. In the Matter of Stansbury (Review Dept. 2000) 4 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 103.

Stansbury was publicly reprovved in a matter in which he defaulted in the State Bar Court. Conditions attached to the reprovval included Ethics School attendance and payment of restitution to a former client. Stansbury was alleged to have violated both the Ethics School and restitution conditions. He did not answer the notice of disciplinary charges, and his default was entered in the second case, as it had been in the first. The State Bar sought review of the Hearing Department's default decision due to a disagreement with the Hearing Department's application of the then recently enacted rule 205 of the Rules of Procedure of the State Bar. The Review Department conducted its review de novo, including the recommended discipline. The Review Department found in aggravation that Stansbury had a prior record of discipline and demonstrated a contemptuous attitude toward the disciplinary proceeding by allowing his default to be entered. The Review Department concluded that In the Matter of Meyer, supra, 3 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 697, provided an apt comparison and recommended the imposition of a two-year suspension from practice, stayed, with a 90-day actual suspension and until several ancillary conditions were met.

Conroy, Meyer and Stansbury are more egregious than the current case because they involve a defaulting and/or a non-cooperative attorney. Therefore, it is appropriate to impose less discipline in the current case than that imposed in Conroy, Meyer and Stansbury. The attorney in Meyer had two prior impositions of discipline and presented no mitigating factors. Here, Respondent has only one prior discipline and there are mitigating factors including his cooperation, remorse, his belated passage of the MPRE at the next opportunity; and his recognition of wrongdoing.
